

REMTEK WORKPLACE

It is an employer's legal obligation to carry out a DSE (display screen equipment) assessment if workers use DSE daily, as part of their normal work, continuously for an hour or more.

What are the main requirements?

- Is the chair suitable?
- Is the chair stable?
- Does the chair have a working:
 - seat back height and tilt adjustment?
 - seat height adjustment?

Extra options to consider:

The main requirements are just that, minimum. To enable your staff to gain the most from their chair, consider upgrading their support.

- Multi adjustable armrests
- Head support
- Inflatable lumbar supports
- Seat depth adjustment
- Dynamic sitting facility

Employers must also carry out an assessment when:

- a new workstation is set up
- a new user starts work
- a change is made to an existing workstation or the way it's used
- users complain of pain or discomfort
